I. Teaching objectives:

1. Classics covers various professional fields, which contains wide-range knowledge. This course will help students to read different field works and establish their own interesting in literature.
2. Classics gradually disappeared in the past five decades. This does not mean it has problems in its content; instead it reminds us that people who use no longer know how to use it and turn it to fit the criteria in nowadays. If we can not inherit the great of tradition, it would cause many problems. That is why we need to study Classics. The ultimate goal in this course is to combine the great work with life.
