

請確認甄選准考證號碼，請勿超出彌封線作答

甄選准考證號碼：

臺北市立中正高級中學 102 學年度第 1 次專任教師甄選

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

英文 科答案卷 (作答時間 120 分鐘，共 9 張)

1. Translation 25%

(A) Please translate the following passage into Chinese.

A little Canadian company has done for DNA collection what Google did for Web searches: made it ridiculously simple and efficient. Ottawa-based DNA Genotek has developed a device that allows you to collect and store a sample of DNA by just spitting into a small plastic vial. Closing the lid on the gadget, called Oragene, releases a chemical that stabilizes the saliva, allowing it to be easily shipped and stored indefinitely. It's a huge advantage over getting a blood sample or swabbing the inside of the mouth. The product could have important implications for law enforcement, forensic sciences and the military. Individuals may even want an Oragene kit to preserve a bit of a loved one---or themselves---if they fear that their remains may later need to be identified. (10%)

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

(B) Please translate the following passage into English.

誰不希望健康呢？以前的人怕吃不飽，營養不良，要多吃多補，現在經濟環境改善，大家反而吃得太好。而外食人口增多，營養不易均衡，生活壓力大，環境污染無所不在，這時如果有人推薦你吃某種特殊食物，可以抗病甚至防病，何樂而不為呢？而罹患高血壓、心血管疾病、癌症的人越來越多，不少病人都把偏方或健康食品當成治病的一線希望。（15%）

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

2. (20%) Few students give us more problems than the “rebellious” students. They are students who, by action and attitude, seem to say, “I won’t! You can’t make me! I’ll do what I want to do when I want to do it! I will not do what you tell me to do!” Those self-centered students never take advice or suggestions from teachers and parents. What’s worse, young minds are impressionable. Once these so-called “heroes” are found to survive well or enjoy certain privileges because of their rebellious behaviors, other students might ask themselves “Why not follow suit?” In the face of such a situation, first, what strategies would you, as a homeroom teacher, employ to counsel the “rebellious” students? Also, how would you minimize their negative influence on other students? Please write an essay of around 300 words.

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

3. (10%) A low achiever came up to you and sought help with her English vocabulary. She said that she could never seem to remember any words correctly, and even if she did, she had a short memory of them. What would you say or do to help her out? Please write an essay in less than 200 words.

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

4. 20%

(A) The following is a student's writing on Should Children Learn a Foreign Language?. Please give some comments on the problems of the writing for the student's further improvement in 100 words. (5%)

Children should learn foreign languages. Languages are not a skill which can be acquired in a short time. It takes practice and practice for long. Childhood is a period which can learn something quickly. Children should seize the rare chance of learning foreign languages. Nowadays, it is a universal world, not only the local language is important, but other languages are useful.

Languages are the first step for us to know other cultures. We can obtain global information instead of Taiwan. Besides, if we can speak foreign languages, we will make foreign friends that can develop social skills. From the above-mentioned, we know learning foreign languages is a necessarily competitive strength, especially studying in childhood is easier.

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

(B) If you are to design a thorough curriculum for the perfection of second-year students' writing skills in senior high school, and the period is one hour per week, how will you organize the instructions in one year? Please design a writing curriculum and state your pedagogical reasons in no more than 300 words. (15%)

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

5. Question Making (25%)

(A) Please write five questions using the following five words. (10%)

impose

respectively

nostalgia

eagerness outrageous

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

(B) Make a 5-blank cloze based on the passage. (7%) (Please just underline where you want to make questions.)

Pink slime is all over the news these days. Otherwise known as "lean finely textured beef," pink slime refers to the product that results when a beef producer takes the fat trimmings from beef to use as a hamburger filler. To make the trimmings safe from E. coli and Salmonella, they have to be treated with ammonium hydroxide, a mixture of ammonia and water, and the bacteria is killed. Once used only in pet food and cooking oil, pink slime is now found in a large (but unknown) percentage of the ground beef sold in supermarkets and served in fast food restaurants.

Gross? Yes, pink slime is disgusting. No one wants to think about anything being in their burger except actual meat. Now the biggest concern with pink slime is that we're buying (or eating) a product and we don't exactly know what it's made of. How on earth can we avoid it?

The cruel fact is that, there is no labeling system to distinguish what beef products contain the low-cost filler made from fatty bits of leftover cuts and treated with ammonia. Many companies use it to prevent or suppress the growth of e. Coli.

灰色區域為彌封處

請勿作答

↑彌封線

(C) Based on the passage and make 2 reading comprehension questions. (8%)

Unsurprisingly, criticism of the government, local scandals and complaints about China's one-child policy were blocked most quickly. But a research team worked out that if none of the process was automated, Sina Weibo would need to employ more than 4,000 speed-reading censors a day, just to keep up.

The researchers uncovered a range of devices aimed at bringing bloggers into line. They included: hiding posts from other users, flagging repeat offenders for closer scrutiny, and tracking backwards to delete sensitive topics everywhere they arose.

With China's media so strictly controlled, the study has raised questions about why microblogs allow people to post before censorship at all. One of the researchers, Professor Dan Wallach, told the BBC that Sina Weibo had to satisfy government censorship requirements without seeming heavy-handed to its bloggers. He said it had to walk a fine line.