Think about it: Who qualifies as an author?

At the end of this unit, reconsider Shelly's situation mentioned previously: Who do you think can be designated as Shelly's co-author on her paper?

Shelly is a graduate student, and before graduation, she completes an English version of her Chinese thesis and decides to submit it to a decent journal. Now she is facing the problem of "Who gets to be designated as coauthor?" If you were Shelly, who among the following do you think is qualified to be designated as a co-author? If the person qualifies as a co-author, select o, if not, select x.

I want to be designated because...

 Graduate study advisor

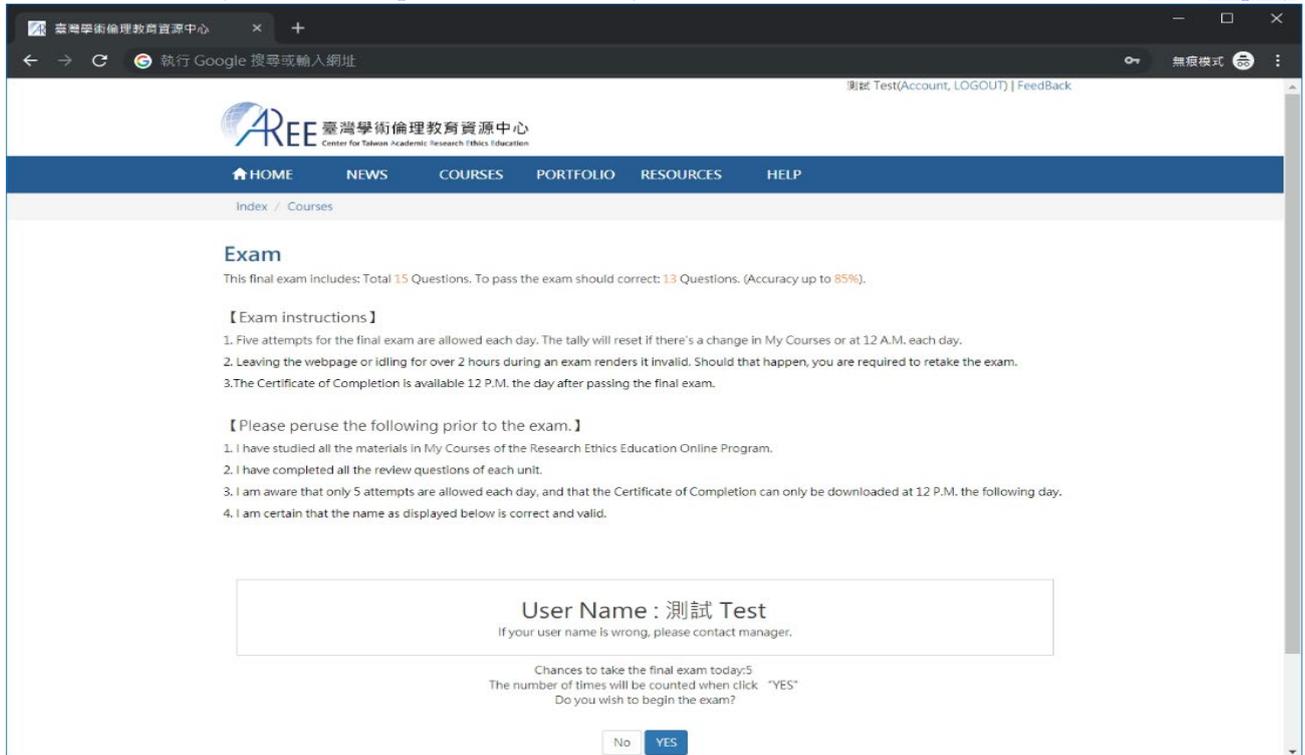

I gave you a number of research suggestions and assisted you in editing the structure and logic of your English manuscript to meet the journal's requirements.

Yes, he/she can be designated as a co-author. No, he/she doesn't qualify for a co-author designation.

You have 5 chances per-day.

Your name will be presented in certificate, please make sure your name is right before you take the final exam. If needs to correct any information, please contact with your school/ institution administrator. (refer to 【Inquiry】)
